DASH OUTSLUG KEYS WITH 23 HITS

Behind a season-high 23 hits, Winston-Salem beat Frederick 12-10 on Friday at Nymeo Field to earn a series win. The Dash scored in each of the first five innings, highlighted by a five-run top of the fifth. Yermin Mercedes went 4-for-5 with a home run and three RBIs, and Ti'Quan Forbes finished a triple shy of the cycle, going 4-for-5 with a home run. After Winston-Salem scored 12 runs on 18 hits in the first five innings, Frederick made a comeback, scoring seven unanswered runs before stranding the tying runs on base in the bottom of the ninth inning. Mike Morrison picked up his fifth save of the season.

HIT PARADE

During the Dash's five-game series against Frederick, Winston-Salem scored 45 runs and pounded out 78 hits, good for an average of nine runs and 15.6 hits per game. Overall, Winston-Salem tallied more than 15 hits in a game three times, striking for 20 hits in a 19-2 win on Monday, 18 hits in a 10-8 win on Thursday and a season-high 23 hits in a 12-10 win on Friday. It is the first time since April 21-24, 2016, in a series against the Salem Red Sox at Haley Toyota Field, that Winston-Salem posted 15 or more hits in a game more than once in a series.

OFFENSIVE JUGGERNAUT

Thanks to their strong second-half start, Dash are atop the Carolina League in several offensive categories, including runs (399), hits (716), RBIs (376) and slugging percentage (.422). This is due to the stellar performance of several players since the All-Star Break, including:

OF Micker Adolfo: 10-for-28 with two homers and 10 RBIs

OF Luis Gonzalez: 12-for-33 with nine runs scored and five doubles

INF Laz Rivera: 13-for-35 with 10 runs, four doubles, one homer and three RBIs

Battenfield is one of four 2018 Midseason South Atlantic League All-Stars now on the Dash roster. More information is available on page 3.

BATTENFIELD VS. WILMINGTON

Date	H/R	Dec	IP	H	R	E	HR	K	BB	Notes

A TRIED AND TRUE COWBOY

Perhaps it was always going to be the case for Battenfield that he would attend Oklahoma State University. After all, his grandparents and his two parents (Darrell and Shelly) were alums of the University. Despite being recruited by several different Big 12 institutions (Oklahoma, Texas Tech and Kansas State), the Claremore, Oklahoma, native committed to the university after a stellar high school career at Verdigris HS that saw him go 33-4 with 313 strikeouts. He would not end up being the only one of his sibling to be a Cowboy, though. His younger brother, Peyton, joined the program in 2017 and two played along side one another that year. The two brothers helped Oklahoma State clinch a 2017 Big 12 Conference tournament title and an NCAA Tournament berth.

THE BEST OF THE BEST IN MAY

Despite all the top-level pitching talent in the White Sox system, which was ranked third-best in baseball prior to the season by MLB Pipeline, Battenfield shined the brightest in the month of May, earning White Sox MiLB Pitcher of the Month honors with Low-A Kannapolis by posting a 1.25 ERA with 41 strikeouts in 36 innings of work. In a conference call with reporters, he explained one of the biggest reasons for his new-found success this year, saying, "When I first got to Great Falls last year after I got drafted, I was mainly sinker, slider, just really two pitches. And I learned really quickly that that wasn't really going to fly, it really didn't work for me. Since then, I worked a lot with (pitching coach) John Ely is developing my changeup and getting a more consistent pitch with that. Adding a curveball and staying more primarily with a four-seam fastball, letting it ride."
